

Ovation Fertility: Frequently Asked Questions

Q: What is Ovation Fertility™?

A: Ovation Fertility is a national network of IVF labs, genetics labs and partner physician practices. Its mission is to empower hope for families by applying the latest advances in reproductive science through a unique collaboration of compassionate clinicians and scientists driven to exceed patients' expectations of outcomes and value.

Q: Why is Midwest Fertility partnering with Ovation?

A: This partnership helps us continue to fulfill our mission to grow families and maintain our commitment to the highest-quality, personalized patient care. Ovation connects our practice with a national network of reproductive endocrinologists and scientific thought leaders who share research, experience and best practices. The physicians at Midwest Fertility saw this as a unique opportunity to help provide excellent care to our patients.

Q: I read that Ovation bought Midwest Fertility Specialists? Is the practice no longer independent?

A: Ovation Fertility has purchased the laboratory at Midwest Fertility. Our team of reproductive endocrinologists remain an independent physician group and continue to practice independently from any health care system. Our physicians firmly believe in Ovation's science and philosophy and will work alongside the Ovation team; however, they do not work for Ovation.

Q: Is the staff changing?

A: The Midwest Fertility nursing team, physicians, support staff and lab technicians will remain intact. Our physicians will continue to see patients and perform procedures as they normally do at both our Carmel and Fort Wayne offices. Dr. Glen Adaniya, who has been with the practice for 20 years, will continue to lead laboratory services and operations with the additional guidance and support of the Ovation team.

Q: When does the partnership take effect?

A: The partnership is currently in effect.

Q: How will this impact any lab procedures I am scheduled for?

A: Our partnership with Ovation will not impact any lab procedures for patients.

Q: Will I be billed separately for lab services?

A: Yes. If you receive IVF/Andrology lab services, you will receive a separate bill for these charges. However, our business office will continue to handle all billing and can answer any questions you have about your statements.

Q: What will happen to my eggs/embryos/sperm that are being stored?

A: Short-term storage for patients going through cycles in 2018 will not change. Midwest Fertility and Ovation are working together to ensure the safest long-term storage possible for patients in future cycles.
